What is the phonics screening check?

The phonics screening check is a test that children take at the end of Year 1. It tests their ability to read and write words that contain the sounds they have learned. The check is a key part of the phonics curriculum and helps teachers to see how well children are learning phonics. It also helps them to identify any areas where children may need extra support.

Teachers should ensure that all children are prepared for the check. They should make sure that children have a good understanding of the sounds they have learned and that they are confident in reading and writing words that contain these sounds. The check is a key part of the phonics curriculum and helps teachers to see how well children are learning phonics. It also helps them to identify any areas where children may need extra support.
