Prior-Miller, 2015-06-05 Scholarly engagement with the magazine form has in the last two decades produced a substantial amount of valuable research. Authored by leading academic authorities in the study of magazines, the chapters in The Routledge Handbook of Magazine Research not only create an architecture to organize and archive the developing field of magazine research but also suggest new avenues of future investigation. The book includes six sections: Methodologies and structures presents theories and models for magazine research in an evolving global context; Magazine publishing: the people and the work introduces the roles and practices of those involved in the editorial and business sides of magazine publishing; Magazines as textual communication surveys the field of contemporary magazines across a range of theoretical perspectives; subjects, genre, and format questions; Magazines as visual communication explores cover design, photography, illustrations, and interactivity; Pedagogical and curricular perspectives offers insights on undergraduate and graduate teaching topics in magazine research; The future of the magazine form speculates on the changing nature of magazine research via its environmental effects, audience, and transforming platforms.

A Poetics of Editing Susan L. Greenberg, 2018-09-03 This original and authoritative book offers a first-ever attempt to define a poetics of the editing arts. It proposes a new field of editing studies in which the ideal editor can be understood in relation to the long-theorised author and reader. The book's premise is that editing, like other forms of making, is mostly invisible and can only be brought into full view through a comparative analysis that includes the insights of practitioners. The argument laid down in careful layers is supported by a panoramic historical narrative that tracks the shifts in textual authority from religious and secular institutions to the romanticised self of the digital present. The dangers posed by the anti-editing rhetoric of this hybrid romanticism are confronted head-on. To the traditional perception of editing as the imposition of closure, A Poetics of Editing adds a perspective on a dynamic process with a sense of the possible.
