Sing To The Dawn Moral Values:

Ethics in Agriculture - An African Perspective Alvin Niekerk,2005-03-30 Agriculture is the lifeblood of the majority of people in Africa It is not just a provider of food it is a way of life for rural people Whilst subsistence farming is the most practiced form of agriculture there are many parts of Africa where agriculture is highly developed and progressive In many instances it is the very diversity of agricultural practices that raises complex problems and issues These issues often manifest themselves in ways that create ethical dilemmas for farmers policy makers academics politicians and the general lay person In particular the role of biotechnology in African agriculture has become a contentious issue Some people hold the view that biotechnology will solve the food shortages experienced in many parts of Africa however there is an opposing viewpoint that Africa may become a dumping ground for technology that has not been acceptable in other parts of the world The ethical issues in agriculture in Africa do not focus only on biotechnology The role of nutrition in the persistence of HIV AIDS is highly debated and sometimes controversial Land related issues also generate heated debates in communities and amongst policy makers The single core that runs through all of these and many other related issues is what are ethically acceptable solutions to these problems This book attempts in simple unambiguous terms to discuss the most important issues in African
