Sleepwalk With Me 1st First Edition Text Only:

Sleepwalking into a New World Chris Wickham, 2015-01-25 A bold new history of the rise of the medieval Italian commune Amid the disintegration of the Kingdom of Italy in the eleventh and twelfth centuries a new form of collective government the commune arose in the cities of northern and central Italy Sleepwalking into a New World takes a bold new look at how these autonomous city states came about and fundamentally alters our understanding of one of the most important political and cultural innovations of the medieval world Chris Wickham provides richly textured portraits of three cities Milan Pisa and Rome and sets them against a vibrant backcloth of other towns He argues that in all but a few cases the elites of these cities and towns developed one of the first nonmonarchical forms of government in medieval Europe unaware that they were creating something altogether new Wickham makes clear that the Italian city commune was by no means a democracy in the modern sense but that it was so novel that outsiders did not know what to make of it He describes how as the old order unraveled the communes emerged governed by consular elites chosen by the people and subject to neither emperor nor king They regularly fought each other yet they grew organized and confident enough to ally together to defeat Frederick Barbarossa the German emperor at the Battle of Legnano in 1176 Sleepwalking into a New World reveals how the development of the autonomous city state took place which would in the end make possible the robust civic culture of the Renaissance

The Donkey and the Boat Chris Wickham, 2023-03-16 A new account of the Mediterranean economy in the 10th to 12th centuries forcing readers to entirely rethink the underlying logic to medieval economic systems Chris Wickham re examines documentary and archaeological sources to give a detailed account of both individual economies and their relationships with each other Chris Wickham offers a new account of the Mediterranean economy in the tenth to twelfth centuries based on a completely new look at the sources documentary and archaeological Our knowledge of the Mediterranean economy is based on syntheses which are between 50 and 150 years old they are based on outdated assumptions and restricted data sets and were written before there was any usable archaeology and Wickham contends that they have to be properly rethought This is the first book ever to give a fully detailed comparative account of the regions of the Mediterranean in this period in their internal economies and in their relationships with each other It focusses on Egypt Tunisia Sicily the Byzantine empire Islamic Spain and Portugal and north central Italy and gives the first comprehensive account of the changing economies of each only Byzantium has a good prior synthesis It aims to force our rethinking of how economies worked in the medieval Mediterranean It also offers a rethinking of how we should understand the underlying logic of the medieval economy in general
