Flowers of Time Mark Payne,2020-10-27 For all of its current popularity contemporary apocalyptic fiction novels set during or after events that devastate the world as we know it is part of a long tradition that includes the Biblical story of Noah the epic of Gilgamesh and the Works and Days of the ancient Greek poet Hesiod as well as the vast array of modern examples In this short essayistic book the author focuses on twentieth and twenty first century fiction in which new forms of life emerge from catastrophe how the survivors adapt to the altered conditions of existence and the various ways in which the past asserts its claims on them both the immediate past of the world that was lost and the deep past of prehistory and imagination that returns with this loss In Payne s view post apocalyptic fiction is political theory in fictional form Instead of producing arguments in favor of a particular form of life it shows what it would be like to live that life In a world in which there is no more capitalism and no more nation state characters have to relearn basic survival skills and return to earlier forms of social life They acquire new capabilities which bring new satisfactions they could not have anticipated in the world that is gone In the post apocalyptic world they disentangle themselves from old ways of thinking and their misconceptions of human happiness In this way Payne argues post apocalyptic fiction is the pastoral of our time The individualism and small scale social relations of post apocalyptic fiction are not naive but instead the necessary ground for choosing the freedoms and capabilities readers would want to see preserved in any future collective that might emerge from them

After London Richard Jeffries,2017-09-21 After London 1885 can be seen as an early example of post apocalyptic fiction after some sudden and unspecified catastrophe has depopulated England the countryside reverts to nature and the few survivors to a quasi medieval way of life The book has two parts The first The Relapse into Barbarism is the account by some later historian of the fall of civilisation and its consequences with a loving description of nature reclaiming England fields becoming overrun by forest domesticated animals running wild roads and towns becoming overgrown the hated London reverting to lake and poisonous swampland The second part Wild England is largely a straightforward adventure set many years later in the wild landscape and society here too Jefferies was setting an example for the genre but the opening section despite some improbabilities has been much admired for its rigour and compelling narrative Critics dissatisfied with the second part often make an exception of chapters 22 24 which go beyond recreation of a medieval world to give a disturbing and surreal description of the site of the fallen city This is a quality soft cover from Green Bird Publications and is suitable for libraries home libraries gift giving and keepsakes Ryan's Pre-order test book Ryan Dingler, Tales from Neptu John M.
