Media Sensation Alien Invasion Fiction:

The Latinx Files Matthew David Goodwin, 2021-05-14 In The Latinx Files Matthew David Goodwin traces how Latinx science fiction writers are reclaiming the space alien from its xenophobic legacy in the science fiction genre. The book argues that the space alien is a vital Latinx figure preserving Latinx cultures by activating the myriad possible constructions of the space alien to represent race and migration in the popular imagination. The works discussed in this book including those of H. G. Wells, Gloria Anzaldúa, Junot Díaz, Andrzej M. Carrington and many others often explicitly reject the derogatory correlation of the space alien and Latinxs while at other times they contain space aliens that function as a source of either enlightenment or horror for Latinx communities. Throughout this nuanced analysis The Latinx Files demonstrates how the character of the space alien has been significant to Latinx communities and has great potential for future writers and artists. Companion to Victorian Popular Fiction Kevin A. Morrison, 2018-10-29 This companion to Victorian popular fiction includes more than 300 cross-referenced entries on works written for the British mass market. Biographical sketches cover the writers and their publishers, the topics that concerned them, and the genres they helped to establish or refine. Entries introduce readers to long overlooked authors who were widely read in their time, with suggestions for further reading and emerging resources for the study of popular fiction. Fin-de-Siècle Fictions, 1890s-1990s A. Mousoutzanis, 2014-05-27 Fin de Siècle Fictions 1890s-1990s focuses on fin de siècle British and postmodern American fictions of apocalypse and investigates the ways in which these narratives demonstrate shifts in the relations among modern discourses of power and knowledge. British Science Fiction Cinema I.Q. Hunter, 2002-01-04 British Science Fiction Cinema is the first substantial study of a genre which despite a sometimes troubled history has produced some of the best British films from the prewar classic Things to Come to Alien made in Britain by a British director. The contributors to this rich and provocative collection explore the diverse strangeness of British science fiction from literary adaptations like Nineteen Eighty-Four and A Clockwork Orange to pulp fantasies and creature features far removed from the acceptable face of British cinema. Through case studies of key films like The Day the Earth Caught Fire, contributors explore the unique themes and concerns of British science fiction from the postwar boom years to more recent productions like Hardware and examine how science fiction cinema drew on a variety of sources from TV adaptations like Doctor Who and the Daleks to the horror/sf crossovers produced from John Wyndham's cult novels The Day of the Triffids and The Midwich Cuckoos, filmed as Village of the Damned. How did budget restrictions encourage the use of the invasion narrative in the 1950s films? And how did films such as Unearthly Stranger and Invasion reflect fears about the decline of Britain's economic and colonial power and the threat of female sexuality? British Science Fiction Cinema celebrates the breadth and continuing vitality of British sf film making in both big budget productions such as Brazil and Event Horizon and cult exploitation movies like Inseminoid and Lifeforce. Science Fiction Film Keith M. Johnston, 2013-05-09 Science Fiction Film develops a historical and cultural approach to the genre that moves beyond close readings of iconography and formal conventions It explores how this increasingly influential genre has been constructed from disparate elements into a hybrid genre Science Fiction Film goes beyond a textual exploration of these films to place them within a larger network of influences that includes studio politics and promotional discourses The book also challenges the perceived limits of the genre it includes a wide range of films from canonical SF such as Le voyage dans la lune Star Wars and Blade Runner to films that stretch and reshape the definition of the genre This expansion of generic focus offers an innovative approach for students and fans of science fiction alike
